AIU Admissions

Why Applying At AIU?AIU aims to provide educational excellence thereby preparing its students for leadership and service through instructional programs and extracurricular activities.
- AIU curriculum will integrate the liberal arts core curriculum that guide each student toward attaining a broad background in a variety of disciplines as a foundation to his or her eventual profession
- AIU strongly believes that EDUCATION is the only ANTIDOTE to poverty. The knowledge gained throughout your stay at AIU will contribute toward erasing poverty on earth
- Scholarship will be available to most students, especially to women
- You will have fun while studying

First Time Application to Africa International UniversityAIU’s admission will be based on the strength of student’s high school background, including the degree of difficulty of major selected and record of academic achievement. AIU will also take into account student’s profile and special talents in and outside of the classroom. To be admitted as a first time AIU student, applicants must have graduated from an accredited secondary school.

Academic Year / Semester Schedule

An academic year at AIU will consist of two 18-week semesters.
- Harmathan semester will begin in January and end in May
- Noel semester will begin in August and end in December

Submitting AIU ApplicationAs AIU’s application will be highly demanding compared to other higher education institutions in Africa, applicants are advised to begin the process earlier. Potential applicants will be required to submit the following to AIU Office of Undergraduate Admissions:
- an application for admission,
- a non-refundable (to be determined)application fee,
- an official high school transcript,
- two to three letters of recommendation
- an essay stating your educational and career goal
- an AIU application.